PROPOSALS

By Joseph M. Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exertion of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the statue of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of this entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

AMERICAN SKETCHES.

Madockawando, a Norridgewock chief of strange and wonderful memory.

Around his neck terrific hung
A huge and brindled skin,
And fish bones o'er his bosom swung,
As thrice he danc'd and thrice he sung
And struck his war club's din.

The bear he strangled in his den,
The brindle fox pursued,
And yelled through many a poisn'ous fen,
That ne'er was trod by mortal men,
And many a pathless wood.

The hill of Rattlesnakes he sought,
And choaked them one by one,
The Mountain Cat pursued and caught,
And down the valley swift as thought,
The tall grey Moose outrun.

He built car of flaming fire,
The dreadful Indian shook,
To see his king, his chief, his sire,
Ride flaming up careering higher,
Than mount Ajocochook

He made a sledge of hickory,
And o'er Seogee's ice,
With she wolves barness'd three and three,
He drove and sung like jollily,
Like one who wins at dice.

The weeds shall grace his burial place,
And round his bones shall sing,
At midnight's hour a spiritual race,
And as his wond'rous deeds they trace,
Pale ivy o'er him fling. A. K.

THE CANAL.—AN EXTRACT.

"Far in the desart bounds I saw
Art's proudest triumph over Nature's law;
Where, distant shores and oceans to combine,
Her daring hand has traced a liquid line,
Uniting lakes, around whose verges rise
Mountains, which hide their heads in misty skies;
Each bound within such adamantine chain,
For ages lash'd its lonely shores in vain;
'Till through their barriers, skill and labor led
The willing waves a long and level bed.
Thus, even in her wildest fastness, man
Subdues his step-dame Nature's churlish plain."

EPITAPH ON A MISER. [give

Here lies one who for medicines would not
A little gold, and so his life he lost;
I fancy now he'd wish again to live
Could he but guess how much his funeral cost.

A dispute arising in a public house between two men respecting a point of law, they agreed to refer it to a third, who recommended them to the decision of the landlord, who, he said, was no doubt well versed in those matters, having been a long time at the bar.

Two men owning 20 dollars, in a bag, in cents—an observer of their bulk and weight said "it was a pity they were not half joes." "I'll bet you ten dollars they are so, said one of the owners." "Done," said the observer. And the punster won by shewing that half belonged to his partner Joe.

COLONIAL ANECDOTE.

The measure of coining money by the province of Massachusetts, first adopted in 1652—rendered necessary by civil wars, and various changes and difficulties in England—gave great umbrage to our royal rulers in the mother country. It was ascribed to the "aspiring spirit of Massachusetts"—and Dr. Robertson, in his history of America, takes deep offence "at the stamp upon the Boston coin as an apt symbol of its progressive vigor." The following anecdote of those times, from the Memoirs of the "truly patriotic Thomas Hollis," is copied into Walsh's "Appeal."

"Sir Thomas Temple, brother to Sir Wm. Temple, resided several years in New-England, during the interregnum. After the restoration, when he returned to England, the king sent for him, and discoursed with him on the state of affairs in the colony. Among other things, he said they had invaded his prerogative by coining money. Sir Thomas, who was a real friend to the colonists, told his majesty, that the colonists had but little acquaintance with law, and that they thought it no crime to make money for their own use. In the course of the conversation, sir Thomas took some of the money out of his pocket and presented it to the king. On one side of the coin was a pine tree of that kind which is thick and bushy at the top.—Charles asked what tree that was? Sir Thomas informed him it was the royal oak, which preserved his majesty's life. This account of the matter brought the king into good humor, and disposed him to hear what sir Thomas had to say in favor of the colonists, calling them "a parcel of honest dogs."

ALEXANDRIA:

THURSDAY MORNING, November 25.

COMMUNICATION.

Praise is deservedly due by the citizens of Alexandria, to the gentleman who has lately conducted the Exchange Coffee-House. To an indefatigable industry in collecting and arranging commercial information, he has united an affability of conduct, calculated to acquire the good will of all persons who have any interest in the respectability and character of such institutions. For many years past, this gentleman has bestowed his undivided attention in giving some degree of commercial importance to the town, derived through the medium of a public institution; and it must really be a source of grief to those who have any interest in mercantile affairs, to know, that the above institution is, or will be, shortly closed, unless some liberality of sentiment and friendship be extended towards it. It must be evident to every observer, that a commercial newsroom is of immense advantage, not only to the nation at large, but particularly to those who are immediately and directly concerned in its transactions; but when it is considered that this institution has been conducted in a superior style, and by a gentleman who has in truth devoted the whole of his time and labor to the faithful discharge of its duties, it essentially behoves the citizens of Alexandria, not to permit this fair fabric to fall into ruins. Merchants, strangers, and travellers who have visited this hall, have expressed great pleasure and admiration in beholding the uncommonly elegant and correct manner in which it has been regulated. The Marine Journal has been transcribed into every commercial paper, and it has at least so far given credit to the commercial character of our town. It would be truly a matter of astonishment to every discerning mind, that an institution intended for the benefit of the place, and particularly for the interests of the merchants, should be disregarded by those, whose chief aim, one would suppose, ought to be, to elevate the reputation of their town, and to diffuse a general exposition of its mercantile pursuits. Probably in every maritime town in the Union, there may be establishments of the above order, but according to general information, there are none which can be considered superior to this institution, in the excellence of its rules and regulations, and the uniformly consistent and polite conduct which has invariably distinguished its manager.

It is to be sincerely desired that the citizens will give their attention to this interesting subject; that they will uphold an institution, which they honored in rearing, and which in its turn has conferred, not only honor upon them, but also on a commercial nation, among whom they may be justly ranked, for their laudable ambition, as its pride and ornament

There is a tribute of praise also due to the industrious and worthy secretary of the institution. This gentleman has taken every pains and means to make it respectable.—It is truly so. He richly deserves some reward for his various labors, in endeavoring to revive the commercial reputation of our town, which, by his exertions, has been extended to every quarter of the Union. Having encountered so many difficulties and individual losses, in bestowing his attention and time to this emulous purpose, it is but reasonable to expect that every citizen who feels an interest in the establishment, and the prosperity of the town, will afford to it every aid in his power, thereby manifesting that our commercial genius is still capable of being animated, and rendered useful, even in the

"WORST OF TIMES."

Extract from a letter, dated Angostura, Sept. 21, received at Eastport, Maine.

"The success of the cause of Independence is now placed beyond a doubt. The resources already in possession of the President, will enable the government here to strike a decisive blow as soon as all the divisions, now separated, can be united into one body, for which orders have been already issued A considerable sum of money will arrive in a few days, and which will be immediately applied to the procuring of some things within reach, indispensable for conclusive operations.

"I feel confident that many months will not pass ere the whole country will be free. Arismendi's activity and decision are inconceivable. Men and means are found in quarters never thought of; and every absentee has been ordered to join the army forthwith, under whatever conditions license may have been granted.

"Life is inspired into every department; and it is delightful to observe the unanimity which prevails throughout. The Spanish general is treated generously and kindly. Bolivar writes, he is a gentleman, behaved to him as such; had him at his table, took his parole, and returned him his sword.

"The Spaniards have evacuated St. Diego, in great precipitation."

A dinner has been given to com. Rodgers by the citizens of Sackett's harbor.

The chaise, before day-light this morning, in coming from New-York, met one of the post chaises, between this city and Bristol—the chaise driver had been thrown from his seat in consequence of the sudden starting of the horses, who were in full speed when they passed the mail. We understand that there were two female passengers in the chaise: the horses stopped at the regular stage house, without the passengers knowing of the loss of the driver, until they arrived there. [Philadelphia Frank. Gaz.

By a communication in the American Centinel it appears that the number of vessels employed in the foreign and coasting trade, now in the port of Philadelphia, is as follows—Ships 45, bark 1, brigs 43, schooners 45, sloops 12, smacks 1, polacre 1; total 148.—Several sloops and small schooners which are employed in the coasting trade are not noticed. Three keels are laid in Kensington; a fine brig is on the stocks at the navy yard, and the 74 gun ship is rapidly progressing.

ELEGANT COMPLIMENT.

We understand, that the Union and National insurance companies of this city, on Tuesday last, presented an elegant set of plate (consisting of a salver, a pitcher, and eight goblets) to captain L. Kearney, of the U. S. brig Enterprize, as a compliment for his exertions "in procuring the restitution of the schr. Retrieve and her cargo, taken into Omoa, by Brown, who lately suffered here for piracy." [New York Com. Adver.

From the Phil. Dem. Press.

Schr. Pegasus, captain Summer 24 days from Jamaica. Oct. 9, the schr. Pegasus on running in for the port of Mancinella, on the south side of Cuba, to which port she was bound, was boarded and taken possession of the patriot brig Libertydor, capt. Walter D. Chitty, one of admiral Brion's squadron.—She was then at anchor off Mincinella, in company with a patriot felucca. Previous to our arrival, they had demanded of the Spanish governor a ransom for the town; the Spaniards demanded 40 hours to procure the cash. During which time a flag of truce was to be displayed at the fort; but they hauled down the flag before the stipulated time. 70 men were then landed under the command of major Graham. They marched to the fort; met with but slight opposition, and took possession of it. The Spaniards then rallied a large body of horse and foot, and the patriots had to make a hasty retreat, tolerably well conducted by presenting a constant front to the enemy. They finally succeeded in getting to their boats with the loss of 12 men. On their return, the vessels again weighed, stood in and came to an anchor abreast of the fort, and commenced a heavy cannonade, which lasted about three quarters of an hour, when the brig having both masts crippled, and several shot in her hull, was obliged to haul off. By information from the town, the Spanish loss was eighteen killed, including the governor. The cargo of the schr. was seized and taken by the above brig on suspicion of her being Spanish property. The schr. was then permitted to proceed.

From the Baltimore Morning Chronicle.

The late intelligence from Europe, certainly tends to confirm the impressions that we have long entertained, that all is not quiet in that quarter. The European powers are employed in recruiting their military establishments, which considering the exhausted condition of their finances, we may be assured is not none for the purpose of idle parade. If we are asked to point out what nations have manifested dispositions to proceed to acts of hostility, we frankly confess our incompetency to answer the question, nor is such a speculation necessary for our purpose. Admit that these preparations are made to repress turbulence, riot, and disorders at home, and the fact will go to the full extent of our assertions, that Europe is not in a state of quietude. The emperor of Germany has propounded some questions for the consideration of the diet, that clearly point out domestic alarm in his dominions.

He contemplates the adoption of strong measures, with regard to the liberty of the press; measures that go to the suppression of public journals, whose politics are offensive to the court, which is of itself an ominous fact. The Emperor of Russia is likewise adding to his already immense and overgrown military establishment.

A report is in circulation, which if true may explain the reason, why the king of Spain has refused his sanction to the treaty. A rumour is stated, and with some confidence that a demand was made by the Spanish government on our minister resident at that court, whether in case the ratification was made by his majesty, he was empowered to consent to the insertion of another article; that the U. States would bind themselves not to acknowledge the Independence of Buenos Ayres. The reply of our minister is stated to be, not only that he was furnished with no such powers, but that the United States would acknowledge the independence of Buenos Ayres, or of any other South American province, as soon as they had shewn themselves capable of preserving the customary relations between independent nations. If there is any truth in this rumor, it will soon be made known by despatches from Mr. Forsyth, as the arrival of the Hornet may be momently expected. It is fortunate that congress meet so early, and that the intelligence which has excited so much speculation, and so much contrariety of opinion in our public papers, will not be much longer delayed.

The suppression of the riots in England by military force, still continues deeply to agitate the public mind.

It is painful to see in this day of illumination, the persecutions endured by the Jews on the continent; the popular fury against this oppressed people, by the latest accounts has suffered no abatement. They have been the victims of unsparing and indiscriminate fury amongst the oldest nations, and where they have not been made objects of violence, they have been made objects of scorn. It is not pretended that they do not preserve all the relations of life with fidelity and honor—it is not stated that they have offended against any human law—it is not urged that they are incapable of holding with christians all the sacred ties of friendship, and all the tender connections; but it is urged against them that they are Jews—that they worship our Creator, according to the traditions of their fathers; to the God of their fathers, then let them be responsible for their actions.—But for Christians to persecute—are they to carry fire and sword under the banners of the cross! No, if they do not worship as we do, let us adopt the language of our Divine Master, who, while expiring under the tortures they inflicted, lifted up his eyes to Heaven, and exclaimed, "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do."

We hope, nay we trust, that it is reserved for this young republic, around whose head new constellations are continually breaking out, to shew to the older governments of Europe an example worthy of their imitation.—A Jew, may here worship according to the traditions of his fathers, and be revered and respected, where the government is administering by the hands of Christians—he is in almost every other state than this, eligible to office, capable of rising to the highest dignity, without renouncing the religion of his ancestors—if he does renounce it from such a motive, he is a base and detestable hypocrite, and would make a worse christian than a Jew. He is required to prostrate his honour, before he can become a candidate for public office. Power and popularity, the great incentives, the great stimulants to human action, are held out as bribes, as temptations to induce him, not from honest conviction, but from the most grovelling motives to abandon his religion. What is the value of a renunciation so obtained? You have gained only a detestable hypocrite. We do indeed believe the time to be approaching, when all this oppressed family will be gathered under the banners of the cross; but we are very clear, that this great event, this accomplishment of Divine prophecy, will never be brought about by persecution, either civil or religious.

Our missionary societies may on this point, teach a most salutary and important lesson to modern politicians—their journey is, that of the sun, and for the same benignant purpose, they visit to enlighten all nations of the earth. They explore the darkest recesses of superstition and of ignorance—they frequent hordes of Barbarians, who offer up human victims for sacrifice, armed with no other weapon, than their prayers for the conversion of these savages. Protecting angels hover over their heads—an Almighty, although invisible shield, is their defence;—the heathen beholds and he trembles at such intrepidity—he dashes his idols to the ground, and kneeling down by the side of these apostles, stammers and pronounces for the first time the name of Jehovah Here is the might, the influence, the majesty, the strength and power of the Christian Gospel into salvation. Benevolence—true, christian benevolence marches to the field and conquers, where persecution, although her standard was followed by all the confederated powers of Europe, with all their mighty armies could not.

FROM AUX-CAYES.

Capt. Berg, of the ship Wilhelmina Catharine, from Aux-Cayes, has 8 Br. passengers on board, who are last from Aux-Cayes. About the middle of August last, captain Berg arrived at Aux-Cayes, with 300 men and officers from Dublin, being part of an expedition for the Spanish Main, engaged in the cause of the independence of South America, under the command of Brigadier Gen. Aury, and Sir Gregor M'Gregor. On the 25th September, both commanders sailed with about 500 men, including officers from Flamard Bay, near Aux-Cayes, to make a desperate attack on some part of the Spanish Main, supposed to be Santa Martha. (some say Rio de la Hache.) A strong and powerful party of the former place, it was reported among the patriotic emigrants at Aux Cayes, had carried on for some time a secret correspondence with Sir Gregor M'Gregor, who had called him over, and promised to give up Santa Martha to him, on his landing with a small force only. At Aux Cayes, as well as among his own officers and men (who were obliged to join him through dire necessity) Sir Gregor's cause was considered to be a very desponding and desperate one, having no money, clothing nor subsistence for his handful of men and not above ten days-provision on board, when they left that port, under an escort of only one armed schooner of 4 six pounders, on board of which Sir Gregor had embarked himself, with his staff. Before their sailing, all the officers and men were completely dissatisfied with Sir Gregor's as well as General Aury's conduct—they having received neither pay nor clothing since they had enlisted in Ireland, and had starved for want of provision and even of water, during the time they lay in port at Flamard Bay. The 300 men and officers were actually all he had left out of about 2,000 troops which had arrived at Aux-Cayes from Dublin, under Sir Gregor's command, since the month of March last, about 200 of whom had been sacrificed by his careless conduct as a commander in chief and his shameful desertion of them at Porto Bello, after having been nineteen days in possession of that very strong and important place. The remainder he lost at Aux Cayes by desertion, famine and the yellow fever, which raged among his troops at Flamard Bay, leaving the most sickly and unhealthy place in the West Indies while he occupied it as a rendezvous for European troops.

[Savannah Republican, Nov.

OF RUSSIA.

From the New-York Daily Advertiser.

No sovereign of modern times has discovered more extraordinary qualities of mind than the Emperor of Russia. Having passed through scenes of the most interesting, and, indeed, terrific character, since his accession to the throne of that immense empire, and seen universal peace succeed to the storms which had wasted and impoverished Europe during nearly a quarter of a century, immediately upon the restoration of general tranquility, he began to execute the laborious plan of civilizing, instructing, and christianizing, the countless tribes of his almost boundless dominions. To the accomplishment of this great object, he has for several years bent all the powers of his comprehensive and benevolent mind, assisted by the talents and labors of his ministers and distinguished officers of government. And the progress which they have already made cannot fail to astonish every observer.

We have been accustomed, in this country, to consider the Russian nation as a vast horde of barbarians, without knowledge, and without civilization; this idea has come down from the period of the reign of Peter the Great, who has himself been considered as at least half savage. It is difficult, at this distance of time, and with such imperfect information as we possess of the real state of things in Russia a century ago, to form a true estimate of the character of such a monarch as Peter. He was undoubtedly a great man—and laid the foundation of the flourishing and powerful empire over which Alexander now reigns with such distinguished reputation.

What will be the result of the astonishing advancement of this mighty nation in moral as well as physical force upon the surrounding nations, it is not easy to conjecture. Should the present Emperor's life be prolonged to the ordinary age of man, and the empire advance in improvement for the ensuing twenty or thirty years, in proportion as it has for six years past; by the close of the period above mentioned, in the hands, of an able ambitious man, it will be able to give laws to Europe.

Our thoughts have been turned to this subject, by reading the following article in the Christian Observer for August, 1819. It discloses the real progress that is making in the gigantic plans of the Czar, and at the same time furnishes matter for serious consideration and reflection on the events of the times.

The Emperor of Russia, among other zealous efforts for the extension of religion and learning, has issued an edict for a new institution of great importance, to be entitled "The University of St. Petersburgh." It is on a large and liberal plan. The three principal faculties will be, 1st. Philosral and Juridical sciences; 2d. The Physical and Mathematical sciences; 3d. The Historical and Phylological sciences. The most eminent professors, Russian and foreign, are to be engaged.

The new system of education is also widely extending in Russia; and a considerable number of schools are in action for education the children of soldiers, upon this economical and efficient plan. Even in Siberia there is an establishment for training masters, who when qualified, are sent to different parts of the empire; and in the neighborhood of Odessa, in the south of Russia, there are schools for above 10,000 of the Russian troops. At Petersburgh there is a school for the children of soldiers extremely well organized; and another for 250 persons has been opened for the soldiers themselves, a certain number of whom are taken out of the different regiments, in order, when qualified, that they may teach others by this method.

The progress they make, particularly the Cossacks, is represented as quite astonishing. In the space of 15 days several, who did not previously know a letter were able to read short words, and even to write them on a slate. Prince Alexander Galitzin, the minister of public instruction, has laid before the Emperor an extensive set of reading lessons, from the Holy Scriptures, for the use of all schools, upon the same plan, in Russia, of which the Emperor has expressed his high approbation and has ordered the payment of the expence of printing a large edition. These lessons are very extensive, and consist of three parts.—1. Historical lessons, from the Old Testament; 2. Our duties towards God and man; 3. A brief History of the four Gospels, with some of the most striking facts in the Acts of the Apostles. The selection is made in the words of the text, without note or comment, and the whole is printed in common Russ.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on Thursday, the 11th inst. a negro man, named DICK, who sometimes calls himself Dick Douglas. He is a small man about 5 feet 6 inches high, and is not a very black man. I purchased him from the estate of Edgar McCarty, esq. Cedar Grove, Fairfax county, Va. and it is likely that he may be lurking about that neighborhood or Colchester, as he has a wife at capt. Berry's of the latter place; or he may have gone to Loudoun county, as he has lived there in the neighborhood of Wm. McCarty and John McCarty, near Leesburg. He had on and took with him an old grey cloth coat and a brown do pantaloons of drab colored domestic cloth. He is much addicted to liquor, and is a coarse shoemaker. I will give 20 dollars if taken in the district of Columbia. Thirty dollars if taken in Fairfax county, and the above reward if apprehended in any other place, and secured so that I get him again; and reasonable charges if brought home. WM. B. STUART.

RAN away from the subscriber living in King George's county Va. on Monday the 22nd March, a yellow man named about 22 years of age, his fore teeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there.—I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home. 100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Aldie, Loudoun county, Virginia, on the night of the 11th inst. a negro man, who calls his name NED BURGES. He is a shrewd, intelligent negro, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high; 30 years of age, well made, active and polite. Had on when he went away, a sky colored coat, and corded pantaloons. His right eye sore, apparently occasioned by a blow, the blood having settled around it. His ears have been pierced, and had green silk in them when he went away. It is expected he is now lurking about Fairfax court-house and Aldie. The above Ned Burges ran away on the night of the 25th of last Aug and was caught on the 11th inst. on the night of which he effected his elopement by drawing the staple to which he was fastened by the handle of a pan, while there was no person in the kitchen but himself. He was caught on the 11th inst. a few miles below Aldie, but I think it improbable that he has gone near the same place again. I will give 100 dollars if he is taken out of the county, and fifty if taken in the county, and secured so that I get him again, and all reasonable charges if brought home. GEO. GULICK.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
Charles County, Md. June 1.
The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.
